Your contribution to Union College has helped students like Molly McDonald, a Class of 2017 biology major, build a foundation for a future in medicine. A member of the Scholars Program and Pre-Health Society, Molly plans to take the EMT certification course and become a member of the Union College Emergency Medical Service (UCEMS) to gain experience in the medical field while at Union. “The knowledge and experience I have received from Union so far have been life-changing,” says Molly. “Being on campus has not only given me a massive amount of pride, but has also helped me learn new skills that will benefit me in the future.”
